

I would respectfully urge you, the FCC, to reject the NAB'S petition 04-160. I feel that all radio stations should be able to carry and broadcast news and weather. This is not private programming and everyone gets information from AP, UPI, Reuters and should be on all stations no matter whether they are owned by big conglomerates like Clear Channel, or a small company like XM Radio or Sirius. What would have happened if CBS, NBC, ABC had told CNN that they couldn't broadcast the news?

Isn't access to all public information a First Amendment right of everyone in the United States not just a select few and in using this information isn't that free speech?
